Police want to trace lorry driver after fatality on M11 which caused six-hour delay

Emergency services attend the scene of the fatal crash

Motorcycle rider dies in horror crash that shut M11 motorway

By Sophie Finnegan

observer@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A MAN has died after a serious crash on the M11 near Harlow involving a car and a motorbike.

The fatality happened near junction seven on the southbound carriageway at around 11.35am on Thursday (August 31).

Essex Police confirmed that the motorcyclist, a man in his 50s from Nottingham, died at the scene after colliding with the car.

Junction seven on the southbound carriageway leading to the M25 was completely closed while emergency services dealt with the incident.

Officers from Highways England, police and ambulance crews and an air ambulance all attended the scene, causing 13 miles of the road to be affected in total.

All lanes on road were closed for up to five hours, causing heavy delays which caused disruptions until later on in the evening.

Drivers were urged to seek alternative routes or follow the diversion signs via the A414 and the A10, causing further congestion throughout West Essex and parts of Hertfordshire.

Police also instructed the public to stay in their cars as drivers who were stuck in the standstill traffic were thought to be getting out of their vehicles.

Blocked

Zoe Jacob, who drove past the accident shortly afterwards, said: "I was travelling northbound to exit at Harlow at about midday and an emergency crew had arrived and blocked the southbound carriageway."

"A helicopter had already landed next to the motorway so you knew it was bad."

"There was a grey small 4x4 of some type as the first car pullover with dents in the drivers' side door and it's

Police would like to trace the driver of this lorry passengers standing by it.

"Only a few other cars were scattered about in between the rescue vehicles and a motorbike overturned."

Traffic was u-turned away from the closure but delays were still heavy up until after 6pm.

Following the crash, police released appeals to find two lorries in connection with the incident.

The first lorry was described as black with a tomato on the side.

Inspector Danny Parsons said: "We urgently need to trace a lorry in connection with this incident which was travelling southbound at the time."

"The lorry had a black trailer with an image of fruit on it, possibly a tomato."

Footage

"If this is your lorry, you recognise it, or if you have any dashcam footage of the incident please contact us."

Police then released the image of a second lorry.

Officers wish to speak to the vehicle's driver as they feel he may have been a witness to the collision.

Anyone who knows who the driver is or anyone with any dash cam footage of the collision or the moments leading up to it should contact the Serious Collision Investigation Unit on 101, email collision.appeals@essex.pnn.police.uk or call Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Jury finds 19-year-old did try to murder victim during attack with claw hammer

Teenager is guilty of attempt to kill a man

By Hannah Kane

observer@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

A BISHOP'S Stortford teenager has been found guilty of attempting to murder a man in a Harlow claw hammer attack.

Yesterday (Wednesday, September 6) a jury found Osa Akpata, 19, of Northgate End, Stortford, guilty of trying to kill a man in The Downs, Harlow in January.

Chelmsford Crown Court heard the victim suffered stab wounds after being attacked with a claw hammer.

Akpata was found not guilty of one count of possessing an offensive weapon and one count of wounding with intent.

The jury returned a unanimous decision and Akpata is set to be sentenced on Friday, October 27.

On January 26 police received calls that the victim was being chased down The Downs around 1.30pm.

Harlow PC Matt Hughes told the court on Thursday (August 31): "At around 6.30pm on February 4, I was on duty at Harlow Police Station.

Received

"I received an email from DC Canning from Harlow CID, which contained a PowerPoint presentation that showed stills of suspects he was seeking to investigate."

Although PC Hughes had not seen Akpata for around one year prior to the photos being sent to him, he instantly recognised him.

He added: "I immediately recognised the suspect as Akpata due to his mono-brow and hairline."

The court then heard from

Clive Evans, an independent forensic imagery analyst.

Analyse

Mr Evans was asked to analyse a set of moving images to determine the similarities between Akpata's custody photo and men in two sets of CCTV.

Footage from the Co-Operative shop, on Manor Hatch, Harlow, and a property in The Downs were analysed.

He concluded that there was "strong support" to suggest the man in the Co-Op footage known as Man B had significant similarities to Akpata.

The property's footage showed "support" to suggest that the figure known as Man Y had similarities with Man B.

He said: "I find no significant differences that would permit the elimination of Man B as Man Y."

Akpata pleaded not guilty at a hearing in March.

Akpata showed similarities with a man caught on CCTV outside the Manor Hatch Co-op

Dealer given prison sentence of six years over haul of heroin

Police investigation led to conviction of 20-year-old

By William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW drug dealer has been jailed after police seized a knife and 24 wraps of heroin from him.

Bradley Boateng, 20, of Fairview Close, Walthamstow, will serve six years behind bars after being arrested in The Briars, Harlow, on May 25.

After a call, officers from Operation Raptor division spotted Boateng leaving a house and found the five-inch knife.

They then carried out a search of the house Boateng had come from, where they found £430 in cash, 24 wraps of the Class A drug heroin and various items of drug paraphernalia including scales and a grinder.

A search of his north London address uncovered £300 in cash, six bags of cannabis and letters making references to gangs.

Jeff Pindi-Camera was caught with drugs

Teenager jailed after 42 wraps of class A drugs found in pants

A NARCOTICS dealer who police found with 42 wraps of class A drugs in his pants, has been jailed for three years.

Specialist police arrested 19-year-old Jeff Pindi-Camera, of Blackshaw Road, London, after searching a house in The Dashes, Harlow, on Sunday, June 25.

They searched him and found the large amount of narcotics in his boxer shorts. He was also found with cannabis and cash.

Pindi-Camera was charged with two counts of possessing a class A drug with intent to supply and possessing a class B drug.

Forfeiture

He admitted both charges at Chelmsford Crown Court and has been jailed for three years.

The court also ordered the forfeiture of his cash and destruction of the drugs.

Partnership

Boateng was charged and pleaded guilty to possessing a Class B drug, possessing a knife in a public place, possession of a class A drug with intent to supply and breaching a criminal behaviour order.

He was given a total of six years in prison and the court ordered the forfeiture of the cash, knife and drugs.

Sergeant James Paget, of the Operation Raptor team, said: "This case demonstrates partnership working at its best.

"Our colleagues from the Harlow Council Community Safety Team were rightly suspicious of Boateng and told us straight-away enabling us to search him, arrest him and

Drug dealer Bradley Boateng, main picture, and the knife that was found by police, above seize a sizeable knife and class A drugs.

Removing

"We have now succeeded in removing a drug dealer, class A and class B drugs and a dangerous weapon from the streets of Essex.

"Whether it is our partners or members of the community, we will act on tip-offs about gang and drug-related crime in the community."

Big spiders terrifying first floor flat resident

AN arachnophobe is living her worst nightmare after giant spiders invaded her Harlow flat.

Sarah-Jayne Mathewson has had to call in neighbours to get rid of the creepy crawlies which are creeping around her property in Longbanks.

The 28-year-old said: "I have had a few over the last few weeks - they are massive. There has been one or two every night and they are the huge ones."

"The ones that have been in the bathroom are too big to send down the bath plug hole. I am petrified of them. I felt one running across my shoulders!"

Miss Mathewson will try placing conkers around but is surprised the spiders keep returning as her flat is on the first floor.

"I am hugely scared," she added. "Somehow they are getting in every night. It's like something from a horror film."

"My dog has tried to chase them off. I am checking the bathroom every few minutes."

Victim suffers life-changing injuries after bottle attack

Emergency services are called to area close to nightclub yet again

By William Mata
william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A MAN who was glassed on Post Office Walk last Sunday is at least the third to have been attacked near the Harlow road this year.

Essex Police again cordoned off the area near to Twenty One Bar nightclub shortly after 5am and later reported the victim suffered life changing injuries.

The victim was attacked with a glass bottle during a fight.

Just last month a Turkish barbers towards the rear of Broad Walk was targeted in a suspected petrol bombing, just yards away from Post Office Walk.

On July 23 a man in his 20s was stabbed after a fight near Post Office Walk. Essex Police again closed off the area around the incident.

Slashed

And on May 28 a 29-year-old man suffered a 15cm cut to his neck after being slashed in an horrific attack on Post Office Walk, outside Twenty One Bar.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon commented after the incident in July: "I will do all I can working with the police to stop these things from happening."

"I think Harlow is a wonderful and safe place."

A Turkish barbers was targeted earlier this year

"But we have got to look at all the things that have happened." In addition, four men were convicted earlier this year after beating up a 19-year-old who "twerked," towards them inside Twenty One Bar.

New rugby club ground is opened by England legend

130 people, including a 1955 founder member, attend celebration

By William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ENGLAND legend Jason Leonard opened Harlow Rugby Club's new ground at a gala event last weekend.

The club welcomed 130 members and guests to their new clubhouse at Latton Farm, off Second Avenue, ahead of their first season away from their old ground at Ram Gorse.

Leonard, who was part of England's 2003 Rugby World Cup winning squad, was joined by Harlow Council leader Jon Clempner for a ceremonial lunch last Saturday.

Boat

The club was founded in 1955 by members who moved posts to the ground by boat along the River Stort and cleared cow pats on a field before playing.

Alan Price, club president, said at the event: "Would those founder members ever have dared dream that come 2017 we would arrive at these wonderful facilities?"

Eric Smith, one of few surviving founder members, was present and joined 12 past club captains alongside volunteers and players from current teams.

Jason Leonard

The lunch was followed by a first team match where Harlow played West Norfolk, and picked up a comfortable 56-5 win.

A club spokesman added: "Over recent weeks the club has been playing warm up games and settling in to the new facilities with everything reaching a grand climax last Saturday.

"This weekend rugby resumes in earnest with all three men's sides and two of the youth sides starting their league contests.

"The first team are away to Wanstead, the side they beat to take the league title last season.

"The Rams are away to Thurrock and the Saints entertain Stanford at home. A tough start to the season for all three sides."

Club president Alan Price and chairman of project team Alan Brooking

Therapist's warning as ticks bites reported

HARLOW Rugby Club has warned members of ticks spreading Lyme disease after two people were bitten at their Latton Farm ground.

Steve Smith, sports therapist for the team, has posted a message on the club's website asking players and fans to beware of a target-shaped rash on skin which could signify an infection.

He wrote: "There have been two instances of people being bitten by ticks whilst at the new ground and there is a need to be aware of its association with Lyme disease.

Blood

"Ticks are tiny spider-like creatures found in woodland and heath areas. They feed on the blood of birds and mammals, including humans."

Lyme disease can cause joint swelling, nervous system problems, heart problems and membrane inflammation if left untreated.

Many people develop a circular rash which looks like a target shape. This could expand over several days or weeks.

But the message did not state if the two people bitten by ticks had developed Lyme disease.

Fences are still erected around fields off Third Avenue, Harlow, due to fears of ticks spreading babesiosis, a deadly disease which can be fatal for dogs.

Town dubbed 'tired and scruffy'

Labour-led council accused by Tory of letting down the town

By William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW is looking "tired and scruffy," with overgrown verges, according to an opposition councillor.

Conservative Nick Churchill attacked the "Corbynite" Labour-led Harlow Council in his strongly worded blog for "ignoring residents" and "letting down" the town.

The Sumners and Kingsmoor

councillor said: "Harlow is looking tired and scruffy and has done for a couple of years now and there is only one reason for that.

"The Labour administration has ignored its residents, it has ignored its own pledge of ensuring a clean and green environment but most of all they have let down Harlow.

"The biggest complaint on the doorstep and for that matter on social media is the state of the town, grass not cut, hedges overgrown and unkempt, shrub areas full of litter, the list goes on."

Mr Churchill also said Harlow does not compare favourably with other towns such as Basildon and Stevenage.

'Extreme'

He continued: "The problem we have in Harlow is that the ruling Labour group has lost control, the majority of the members are now either union backed or extreme left wing (Corbynite). Last time I looked the unions and Corbyn's buddies were not in the majority in Harlow.

"It's time for the people of Harlow to send a message to Labour that enough is enough."

Harlow Council's website explains the grass and landscaping policy in the town.

This states council contractor HTS begins cutting near housing in March, but this can be delayed if the ground is wet. Grass in housing areas is then cut every 17 days.

But away from housing, grass can be allowed to grow much longer.

Natural

A spokesman from the council said: "The aim in these areas is to allow grasses and plants a greater opportunity to grow and flower, giving a more natural appearance and more variety than close-mown grass.

"This costs less and will support more plants and insects, which will then support wildlife like insect-feeding birds.

"Strips alongside roads may need to be cut shorter to maintain sight-lines for traffic, and in some cases grass cutting is deliberately delayed to allow plants of particular wildlife interest to finish their growing cycle."

'Warrior' photo shoot is a boost for brave mum

By William Mata
william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW mum who supported her family while overcoming breast cancer is one of several Essex women being hailed as an everyday heroine.

Photographer Chanon de Valois has teamed up with make-up artist Michelle Lacey to create the Warrior Women Series, which celebrates local women as alternative role models.

Warriors chosen for the project are all women who have overcome adversity to lead successful lives and they are given a pampering before and after photo shoot.

Mum-of-three Annie Lewis, 42, of Harlow, was among the women chosen. While watching a feature on how to check your breasts she discovered a lump.

After finding out she had breast cancer the mother-of-three married her partner Gareth.

She has also had to have a hysterectomy to rid her body of more cancerous cells and has been left with fibromyalgia, which means she is in constant pain.

She said: "Even though I was going through so much sadness with the illness, the thing that made me cry even more was thinking I would never get to marry my soul mate."

Successful

"Gareth and the children were my rocks throughout it all and the wedding finally cemented us together."

"What Chanon and Michelle are doing is amazing."

"Since being ill, I have lost all confidence and when I look in the mirror I feel as though I don't see me any more, I just see cancer and a lady who is suffering the everyday side effects of it."

"Being involved in this project made me feel like a new me."

"I could forget what has happened and is still happening outside of those four walls."

Pony found abandoned could die from bad hoof condition

'Sweet-natured' mare is rescued and rehomed, but her outlook is very uncertain

By William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A PONY was found abandoned with a potentially fatal hoof condition at the former Passmores School site in Tendring Road, Harlow.

Roydon-based Redwings Horse Sanctuary rescued and rehomed the suffering piebald cob mare after a call from the public last week in this latest equine incident.

Raggy, as the four-year-old has been named, was found with severe laminitis, which is a rare and potentially fatal condition affecting hooves.

Severity

Jo Franklin, Redwings' senior welfare officer, said: "Sadly, it is highly likely the mare was abandoned due to the severity of her condition. She was in such pain that she was rooted to the spot, unable to move."

"At this stage the cause of her laminitis is unclear."

"The condition is usually associated with obesity or hoof issues, but Raggy is actually very underweight and she doesn't appear to be suffering from any hoof

Raggy the pony faces an uncertain future despite being rescued abnormalities. Upsettingly, as well as being severely laminitic, Raggy also had an udder full of milk so I can only assume she had recently lost a foal or had her foal recently removed from her."

This is the latest episode in what has been dubbed an equine crisis in Harlow, with a petition to stop ill treatment of horses gathering nearly 7,000 signatures.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon and

Harlow Council both commented on the situation of horse tethering on common land following the shocking image of a dead horse at Pinnacles circulating online.

An abandonment notice has been issued for Raggy and she is currently receiving treatment at House and Jackson's Horse Clinic, with investigations as to the cause of her laminitis ongoing.

Redwings is appealing for information about how Raggy ended up in her state.

Concerned

Samantha Garvey, chief inspector at Redwings, said: "We're very concerned about poor Raggy and we have pledged to do everything we can to help her by funding her veterinary treatment and offering her a home should no owner come forward."

"Sadly the outlook for this sweet-natured mare is currently very uncertain, so we are urging anyone with information to contact our welfare team or the RSPCA."

■ If you have any information about Raggy, please call Redwings' welfare team on 01508 481008 or email welfare@redwings.co.uk.

Alternatively, you can contact the RSPCA on 0300 1234 999.

Local Government Association says children could struggle to find classroom slots

Education crisis is looming over pupil places

By Piers Meyler

observer@hertsexnews.co.uk

ESSEX County Council needs to accommodate almost 14,000 extra school places over the next nine years as the Local Government Association warns of an impending crisis.

New analysis of Department for Education figures and local pupil forecasts by the Local Government Association warns that more than 125,000 children across England face missing out on a secondary school place by 2022/23.

It means that Essex County Council will likely have to spend millions of pounds to create extra places to meet the demand.

Councillor Ray Gooding, Essex County Council's cabinet member for education, said: "We have a fantastic track record of investment in new school places in Essex and spent about £74 million creating more than 2,500 places for the new academic year.

"As a result, we were able to offer a record percentage of pupils a place at their parents' preferred primary and secondary schools.

"Essex is continuing to grow and we work closely with our partners, including schools, district and borough councils and housing providers, to assess future demand for school places and determine where they should be created.

"Over the next few years we also expect the pressure to shift from primary to secondary schools and our current projections show 13,620 new secondary school places will be needed across Essex over the next decade.

Committed

"We have already committed to spending about £230 million on creating new school places over the next three years and remain committed to ensuring there are enough places to meet demand."

Almost half (49 per cent) of councils across the country are at risk of being unable to meet rising demand for secondary school places within the next five years, local government leaders have warned.

The LGA said councils urgently need to be given powers to force academies and free schools to expand if additional places are needed in a local area and voluntary agreement cannot be reached.

With nearly two thirds of sec-

Will there be enough school places for pupils? And, inset, Councillor Ray Gooding ondary schools now academies, this is the only way to make sure councils can fulfill their statutory duty to ensure every child has a school place.

It adds that councils also need to be given back powers to build new schools in areas where they are needed if it is logistically impossible for local academies or free schools to provide the places needed.

Currently, although councils have a duty to make sure there are enough places in an area, all final decisions about new schools have to be made in Whitehall.

The LGA, which represents more than 370 councils in England and Wales, has repeatedly warned of the looming crisis in secondary schools places.

Squeeze

Councillor Richard Watts, chair of the LGA's Children and Young People Board, said: "As the LGA has previously warned, the school places squeeze is now about to hit secondary schools.

"More and more families will face growing uncertainty when trying to secure their child's secondary school without action.

"Councils have worked hard to help create almost 600,000 additional primary places since 2010. This is no small feat.

"However, as those children move on to secondary schools, the majority of which are now academies, securing new secondary places in the areas where they are needed is becoming increasingly difficult.

"Councils are working with one hand behind their backs to help as many pupils as possible receive a place at their first choice school.

Force

"If we are to avoid this looming secondary school places crisis, councils need to be able to force existing academy schools to expand if voluntary agreement is impossible and must be given back powers to open new maintained schools themselves."

ESSEX POLICE: Crackdown on image downloading has resulted in 43 arrests

Sex abuse operation extended by police

By Michael Mutch

observer@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A CRACKDOWN on the downloading of child sex abuse images has seen Essex Police arrest 43 people since November last year.

A dedicated team of specialist officers, using an intelligence-led approach, have targeted those involved in downloading, taking and distributing indecent images of children.

The team, working closely with Essex Police's specialist Police Online Investigation Team (POLIT) and Child Abuse Investigation Teams (CAIT), has executed 44 warrants and arrested 43 people so far.

Other offences, such as voyeurism, possession of controlled substances and possession of ammunition have also been discovered.

Essex Police say that as a result 46 children have been safeguarded and the crackdown on child abuse will continue for a further six months until March 2018.

Delighted

Det Chief Insp Jon Burgess, of Essex Police's Crime and Public Protection Command, said: "I am delighted that this crackdown will continue for another six months.

"It's important to remember that this team of specialist officers are an additional resource, working in support of our existing POLIT and CAIT teams, to bring even more offenders of this heinous crime to justice.

"The continuation of this crackdown demonstrates our force's continued and tireless commitment to identify those involved in the viewing, making and distribution of indecent images of children so that we can bring them to justice.

"Nothing is more important than protecting our children, and every child in every indecent image has been abused and exploited."

Det Sgt Ashley Howard, who has led the team of extra officers, added: "The offenders we have brought to justice so far have seen their lives changed forever.

"They have been placed on the

Sex Offenders Register for several years, affecting their future ability to gain employment.

Ordered

"They have been made the subject of Sexual Harm Prevention Orders (SHPO) and ordered to carry out unpaid work and rehabilitation programmes.

"Our knock on the door of suspected offenders has also changed their family lives beyond recognition.

"Our message has and always will be clear, do not download or view indecent images of children.

"It is a crime and we will continue to target those who participate in the abuse of children by viewing this imagery."

Det Chief Insp Jon Burgess says the crackdown is set to continue

An artist's impression of how Gilston Park Estate could look

Public given extra time to give their views on new town

A PUBLIC consultation into proposed plans for a new garden town just north of Harlow has been extended by East Hertfordshire District Council (EHDC).

The consultation, which started on July 24, has been extended until tomorrow (Friday, September 8) to allow more time for the public to give feedback on the proposals.

Schools

The consultation was originally meant to close last Friday (September 1) but has been extended for a week in order to allow interested parties extra time to respond.

The garden town, known as Gilston Park, would include up to 10,000 homes, provision for schools, healthcare, parks, and transport links in seven different 'villages' within the development.

Candidates line up to do battle in by-election

Toddbrook seat up for grabs

By William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW'S Green Party has announced James Aicken as its candidate for the Toddbrook by-election.

The town resident and charity worker will attempt to win the seat from Labour in the Harlow Council count on Thursday, September 28.

Mr Aicken is a volunteer with Herts and Essex Community Farm and also takes part in Harlow park-run.

He said: "It is really important for us to give people the chance to vote Green in Harlow, with the growing threat of climate change and the effects of austerity on residents in the town."

"I look forward to a great campaign and meeting local residents on the campaign trail."

Hannah Clare, town party co-ordinator, added:

Green candidate James Aicken

"I'm really excited that James is fighting this election for us."

"He is an incredible candidate, who works hard in the local community and we are looking forward to working hard over the next month to get a good result."

The by-election was called after Councillor Rod Truan announced he will be stepping down to take a job in Cornwall.

Competition

Ukip has announced its candidate will be Patsy Long.

Labour is hoping its candidate Tony Edwards can defend the seat but he will also face competition from Tory Peter Lamb and Liberal Democrat Lesley Rideout.

Toddbrook's two other councillors, Phil Waite and Karen Clempner, are both part of the ruling Labour group.

Warning to cat owners after pet mauled by dogs

A HARLOW man has issued a warning to pet owners after he witnessed a group of dogs mauling a cat near his home.

Essex Police are investigating reports a pack of greyhounds and lurchers attacked the cat at around 12pm on Bank Holiday Monday in Fennells, Harlow.

The incident follows a spate of cat related crimes in Harlow, including reports of anti-freeze poisoning and shootings with air rifles.

A male witness, who did not wish to be named, said: "There was a terrible distressing scream."

"(I saw) the dogs were ripping the cat to pieces. It was an elderly neighbourhood cat. I just want to warn people in the area."

Anyone with information is asked to call Harlow Police Station on 101.

Airport wants to fly the flag for Essex firms

Stansted is headline awards sponsor

THE Essex Business Excellence Awards are returning to the region for the 2017 event where hundreds of guests, who include Essex's brightest businesses, will congregate for an evening of celebration in honour of Essex's thriving business community.

On Wednesday, November 29, the City Pavilion in Romford will play host to the awards which will feature a champagne reception, three-course dinner, entertainment, fundraising opportunities and of course, the highly anticipated award presentations.

Headlining the awards this year is the fourth biggest airport in the UK, London Stansted Airport, which is a significant part of Essex's thriving business community.

The airport is one of the country's fastest-growing airports, serving more than 25 million passengers each year, flying them to 190 destinations across 40 countries.

While the airport currently flies to destinations across Europe and North Africa, impressively flying to more European destinations than any other UK airport, come April 2018 Stansted will also be spreading its wings and introducing flights to New York and Boston.

Involved

Speaking of their headline sponsorship, Stansted Airport's head of external affairs, Chris Wiggan, emphasised how getting involved with these awards was very important to the airport.

He said: "We want to be part of the local business community and, as a big business in county, see it as our duty to help raise the profile of the Essex brand

Chris Wiggan says it is very important for Stansted Airport to support the awards and its unique entrepreneurial spirit.

"As the biggest single site employer in the region employing over 12,000 people across 200 companies, we're a key enabler of economic growth and productivity.

"We want to ensure that local businesses and SMEs benefit from our success and importantly we want to be able to provide the routes and destinations that help them connect and trade with the global market place.

"Stansted is a growing business serving millions of passengers every year.

"Over the next few years we have ambitious plans to serve 20 million more passengers by making full use of our single runway and investing in our terminal facilities, including a new £130 million arrivals terminal.

Investment

"These plans will help to deliver more flights to more places, create more jobs and attract further inward investment to Essex.

"We always strive to understand what the business community want from the airport in order to better our services.

"In a way, the awards provide the opportunity to listen to our customers. Meeting with local businesses and hearing about their successes will allow us to learn from them and gain feedback from anyone that has used our services."

Chris added: "We are thrilled to be involved with these awards in such a big way and are looking forward to meeting and connecting with new and exciting businesses on the night."

Unstinting support for local hospice

TWO months after their annual village fete, residents of Thornwood presented a £7,500 cheque of their takings to St Clare Hospice.

Dani De'ath, community fundraising lead, collected the donation on behalf of the Hastingwood-based hospice which provides care for people in the Harlow region.

Ms De'ath said: "The support of the residents of Thornwood has been constant, from the moment the first trustees of St Clare decided to purchase the site just down the road, in Hastingwood.

"It is only thanks to the unstinting and dedicated support of such generous local people as those in Thornwood, that St Clare is able to continue to deliver such excellent care and support to local families on one of life's most difficult journeys."

Shirley Hawkins, chairman of the festivals committee, added: "Hundreds of local families in Thornwood and the surrounding communities, benefit from the specialist care provided by the hospice, and so we run the festival as our way of giving back to St Clare."

The team prepares for the cycle marathon

Peloton take on cycling challenge for St Clare's

ST CLARE Hospice will be supported by a cycling team comprising members of Bishop's Stortford fuel and lubrication company Hytek.

The peloton are taking part in the Revolve 24-hour cycle challenge on September 16 and 17 when they will ride in shifts around Brands Hatch racing circuit in Kent for one whole day.

The staff at Hytek were inspired to take on the cycle challenge in aid of the Hastingwood-based hospice charity in honour and memory of their much respected and popular colleague, Peter Parker.

Peter and his family received the support of St Clare in Peter's final days, before he died in 2013.

Clive Wellings, Hytek's research and development manager, said: "St Clare Hospice helped our late colleague and friend Peter and his family immensely, so we're delighted to contribute and help them continue their valuable work."

Hytek and the teams from IFC

Inflow, Anglo Nordic and Mechtronic are currently in training, preparing for the challenge ahead.

If you would like to sponsor the team, and support St Clare Hospice by helping to raise vital funding, you can visit the Flowmax Wheelers fundraising page on Virgin Money Giving.

Bus Stop Theatre Company

Young performers staged fun-filled show

BUS Stop Theatre Company, a new group for young people aged over 17, wowed crowds with a showcase of their work last week.

The group performed songs from Legally Blonde and Mulan at the Phoenix Live Lounge in Harlow on Wednesday, August 30.

Harlow councillor Ian Beckett said: "Musical theatre is a perfect vehicle for Bus Stop as the current company, six of whom performed in this showcase, demonstrated that they are already accomplished singers and actors with skills in dance and movement.

"They're having fun and it's infectious."

Bus Stop Theatre is currently fundraising to bring their work to a wider audience and are well worth philanthropic and community support.

Their crowd funding page can be found at: www.justgiving.com

Marshals and volunteers praised for smooth run

Harlow 10 race director is pleased with first year in charge

By William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE race director of the Harlow 10 paid tribute to marshals and volunteers after another successful long distance run.

Last Sunday 254 people completed the ten-mile course from London Road, through country roads and back again, before finishing at the Mark Hall athletics track.

Paul Schroder, 36, of Harlow Running Club, was happy his first year in charge went smoothly.

Excellent

He said: "It all went to plan thankfully, we had an excellent team of marshals and volunteers. When you have that kind of support it all comes together."

"I really needed that as it was my first time."

This was the 28th edition of the Harlow 10. The number of finishers was slightly down from the 294 recorded last year, but based on positive feedback it appears most of the runners enjoyed the occasion.

Mr Schroder said: "It was really overwhelming, we had excellent feedback and people were really thanking the marshals. The race winner was really impressed and it was a nice atmosphere."

Runners set off on the Harlow 10 course

Jack Blaiklock was the first to finish in a time of 56mins 44.

The first woman to cross the line was Rebecca White who clocked 68mins 12.

Danny McRee of Harlow Running Club won the special honour of being the first town resident to cross the line, which he did in 66mins 26.

Mr Schroder continued: "It was a good event and it was well supported by the community."

"It was a mix of people doing it, there were some raising money and doing it for charity. For some ten miles was the furthest they had ever run."

"The marshals were supportive and it does give a buzz you may not always have at races."

MINDHORN (12A)

BRITISH comedy doesn't always travel successfully to the big screen. What's funny in half-hour, character-driven segments on the small screen often suffers when stretched to feature-length, plot-driven scripts.

Mindhorn, of course, was never a TV show but it is based on a fictional 1980s crime drama very much in the mould of Bergerac and Midsomer Murders and draws on the comedy heritage of The Mighty Boosh and Alan Partridge – which you'd expect given the involvement of Julian Barratt and Steve Coogan in this film. The good news is its lo-fi blend of daft humour, retro styling and good old British eccentricity works a treat on the big screen.

Barratt is Richard Thorncroft, a pompous, self-regarding actor who's well past his sell-by date. Living in a flat in Walthamstow, he sucks in his paunch and dons a wig to cover his baldness for increasingly pathetic acting jobs that his exasperated agent (Harriet Walter) gets for him. His big acting hit was playing Mindhorn, a mustachioed detective with an eye patch but that was back in the 1980s and his career has nosedived since. Yet Thorncroft deludes himself that he's an actor of great talent that just isn't recognised.

Thorncroft's chance of redemption comes from an unlikely source – an elusive serial killer on the Isle of Man is obsessed with Mindhorn and demands to talk to him. The local police force ask Thorncroft to get back into character to help them so he digs out his old 80s clobber and revisits old friends and old haunts hoping that the exposure will revive his career.

Barratt is in great comedic form as Thorncroft/Mindhorn channelling the spirit of his Mighty Boosh character Howard Moon for another loser with a superiority complex; convinced of his own genius while nobody else is.

Barratt gives Thorncroft a manic intensity, an unshakeable faith in his own thin talent despite all the blunders and pratfalls he makes. It's hilarious but painful too. There's certainly plenty of Howard Moon in there but also Alan Partridge at his most desperate too.

There's an impressive supportive cast too with Essie Davies, Simon Farnaby and Russell Tovey showing their comic smarts and Kenneth Branagh, Simon Callow and Steve Coogan weighing in with some nicely judged cameos.

Constantly funny and frequently hilarious, Mindhorn is packed with visual gags, daftness and large helpings of pathos. It's a celebration of a classic British loser who somehow, despite himself, manages to redeem himself because underneath all the bluff and bluster he's a nice chap who's rather inept. If you like The Mighty Boosh and Alan Partridge, you'll love this.

Elizabeth Olsen as FBI agent Jane Banner and Jeremy Renner as Cory Lambert in Taylor Sheridan's murder mystery Wind River

Cold-blooded murder

WIND RIVER (15)

Taylor Sheridan is hot property. As an actor you may have seen him in Hells Angels show Sons Of Anarchy as Deputy David Hale but it's his film output, as writer and now director, that's getting him buckets of praise and plaudits.

He wrote Sicario and Hell Or High Water, two of the best American films of recent years, unflinching studies of the state of the nation; one examining the gruesome effects of the War On Drugs on the US-Mexico border and the other a tragic tale of two desperate west Texan brothers who resort to robbing banks in the wake of the 2008 financial crisis.

The third part of Sheridan's 'Frontier Trilogy' (thematically if not narratively linked) is Wind River, a brooding murder mystery that he's directed as well as written, set on a Native American reservation in Wyoming.

After he discovers the frozen body of a young woman in the snow in a remote spot, wildlife officer and expert tracker Cory Lambert (Jeremy Renner) helps out when rookie FBI agent Jane Banner (Elizabeth Olsen) takes over the investigation from local law enforcement. She's a fish out of water having arrived from Las Vegas ill-equipped to cope with sub-zero temperatures and she also struggles to understand the low-key, taciturn approach of the local sheriff, Ben (Graham Greene).

Economic deprivation and isolation make the Wind River Reservation an insular, bitter place and the investigation has to negotiate local sensitivities and politics in its unravelling of what's happened, uncovering some hard truths along the way. The brutal, bloody denouement is a shocking indictment of male attitudes and behaviour.

Sheridan's film is an absorbing, character-led piece that takes its time to unwind. There's not enough action perhaps for it to be called a thriller but under its police-procedural trappings is a powerful examination of the desperate plight of America's native people and a damning look at the mindset of some white Americans. It's slow-moving, tense as hell and a permanent sense of dread pervades each step of the investigation.

Renner's Lambert is a study in grief (he's also lost a daughter) and self-containment, his tightly controlled world disrupted by the arrival of Olsen's Banner and her forthright approach. Both actors, last seen together as Marvel Avengers Hawkeye and Scarlet Witch, impress but what stayed with me most was Gil Birmingham's devastating portrayal of the bereaved father of the victim, mourning his daughter and, more broadly, the sense of his own identity and history. His friendship with Lambert is challenged by the investigation but the moment these two quiet, wounded men share at the end of the film is tender and incredibly moving.

Wind River is a fitting finale to Sheridan's brilliant trilogy, an involving but unsentimental look at the harsh conditions that people on the margins of modern America have to cope with and the systematic prejudice they have to deal with. Like Sicario and Hell Or High Water, it has the feel of a Western. Sheridan directs with restraint, subtlety and assurance to create a haunting tale augmented by a soundtrack from Nick Cave and Warren Ellis that's as beautiful, ominous and atmospheric as the landscape the film is set in.

FOOD &amp; DRINK

THE BEET IS ON

BEETSINGREDIENTS
(Serves 4)

600g raw mixed-colour baby beets, ideally with leaves
4 clementines
½ a bunch of fresh tarragon
100g crumbly goat's cheese
40g shelled unsalted walnut halves
Salt and pepper

METHOD

1. Reserving any nice smaller beet leaves, halve any larger beets and cook, covered, in a pan of boiling salted water for 15 to 20 minutes, or until tender.
2. Meanwhile, squeeze the juice of one clementine into a large bowl with one tablespoon of extra virgin olive oil and a good splash of red wine vinegar.
3. Peel the remaining three clementines, slice into fine rounds and arrange on your plates.

4. Drain the beets and briefly refresh in cold water until cool enough to quickly rub off the skins. Halve or slice a few, then toss them all in the dressing.
5. Taste, season to perfection with sea salt and black pepper, then pick in the tarragon and toss with the reserved beet leaves. Divide between your plates, crumble over the goat's cheese and walnuts, and drizzle lightly with extra virgin olive oil.

And the celebrity chef also tells PRUDENCE WADE why he's so keen to help halve childhood obesity

HAD been forewarned that Jamie Oliver is as hyperactive in person as on screen, which turns out to be no exaggeration.

Ask one question and Jamie is off, easy charm in full flow, at a million miles an hour. The celebrity chef, restaurateur and household foodie favourite, is set to continue his culinary domination with a new cookbook, 5 Ingredients – Quick & Easy Food. Not content with reducing our cooking times to a mere 15 minutes in previous tomes, he's now trimming our shopping lists with dishes that require just five ingredients (give or take some additional seasoning).

"Some books just want to be written," Jamie enthuses. He originally wrote the recipes with four ingredients in mind, but added an extra when he realised something was missing.

"I wrote 70% of that book but then realised it was just 'good' and I don't think people want to buy a 'good' Jamie Oliver book," he explains. "So the extra ingredient is that balance between creativity and getting straight to the point."

With fewer ingredients, Jamie is hoping to make people more aware of what's going into their food – something he's keen to do himself. He embarked on a nutrition course three years ago and is now studying for his masters.

With the rise in health and wellness fads, Jamie wanted to be able to debunk much of the misinformation being circulated. He says: "You've got people who are taking 200g of butter out of a brownie and putting 200g of coconut oil in and saying it's healthier. It's just not true. I knew

Jamie Oliver is aiming to help halve childhood obesity in 10 years

I had to go to school."

And he's absolutely loving it. "It's literally one of the coolest things I've ever done," he exclaims.

Discussion of education and learning about food inevitably leads Jamie to what he calls his 'life's passion': child health. "My personal goal – what gets me up in the morning – is to help halve childhood obesity in 10 years," he says.

With nearly a third of children aged 2-15 overweight or obese, he is justifiably concerned about this issue, especially given its links to middle-aged mortality, mental health and an increase in type 2 diabetes.

For Jamie, tackling this is not going to be easy given his relationship with the present government. He worked closely with the previous four prime ministers on child health but things haven't gone so smoothly with Theresa May.

"We exchanged a few letters and I'll keep writing them but there's not much coming back really," he says.

Five is the magic number for Jamie

He is particularly angry about the changes the Prime Minister made to the anti-obesity strategy formulated under David Cameron. May's version failed to include restrictions on advertising and promotional deals on junk food, two actions that would have a huge impact on childhood obesity, he says.

"What that lot get up to baffles me. It baffles me economically and it baffles me morally." He believes we can halve childhood obesity in 10 years but only if we tackle education and advertising, and generally make it easier for people to be healthy.

He firmly believes children need to be better educated about food to be able to make healthier choices. "You don't die young because you didn't do your geography homework."

Don't expect Jamie to stop talking about childhood obesity anytime soon. He says: "It doesn't matter where I could be, if I was in front of the Queen and she asked me about it, I'd just go off on one."

BLIMEY, we're in September, how did that happen? As it is Organic September it's only right to bring you a couple of eco-friendly wines.

But before then, I've been flirting with Spanish wines. I'll kick off with a pink and then it's whites all the way folks.

Rioja Rosado 2016 Marqués de Cáceres (£8.99 or £7.99 in a buy six deal at Majestic, 13.5% abv) is a blend of tempranillo and garnacha and is spot-on for an autumn barbecue. It isn't backward in coming forward, displaying ripe strawberries and rose hips, with just a hint of spice. Its sister white wine Rioja Blanco 2016 Marqués de Cáceres (same prices in

RAISE A GLASS

WITH JANE CLARE

Majestic, 12.5% abv, right) is 100% viura and is prettily fresh and fruity, with no oak involved in its creation. It has notes of lemon and lime, a good acidity and is ideal for a midweek relax.

Beronia Rioja Viura 2016 (RRP £9, Ocado or thedrinkshop.com, 12% abv) has a little more to say for itself. Yes, this wine displays classic notes of citrus, but flirting alongside are peach and mango. I was a lazy cook the night I sipped this, so I tossed crayfish tails in a salad with a squeeze of lemon and a shake of pepper and the seafood-friendly wine was happy.

Verdejo wines have a bright style similar to sauvignon blanc.

Verdejo, El Tesoro 2016 (£6.95, winetrust100.co.uk, 12.5% abv) has a peep of ripe apples hiding behind the more pronounced lemon and lime aromas and to taste those citrus flavours roll excitedly in good acidity, and there's an edge of spice and a touch of creaminess.

Ramón Bilbao, Rueda Sauvignon Blanc 2016 (£10.95, greatwesternwine.co.uk, 12.5% abv) is a new addition to Ramón Bilbao's portfolio and mmm – this wine is tropical. There's moreish aromas of lychees, passion fruit and hints of orange zest and those same fruits are sprightly in the mouth, fresh and balanced with the acidity. I love it.

■ Also in my glass ... my final Spanish white leads me nicely into Organic September.

Frontos Blanco Seco Ecológico 2014 (£14.50, 12.5% abv, left) hails from Tenerife and is sold by meadowdalewines.com, a new online merchant specialising in organic, low-sulphite and biodynamic wines. The grape is listan blanco which is the same as palamino, the base for sherry. Frontos has subtle notes of apple, grapes, honeysuckle and a hint of tropical fruit. The aromas are echoed in the mouth.

I've poured my second wine from Meadowvale Silvano Follador Valdobbiadene Prosecco Superiore D.O.C.G. Brut Nature 2016 (£19.50, 11.5% abv) while tidying up my words above. It has popped with giddiness into the glass and a few minutes later is still giddy. It is a classy prosecco, and unlike many of its cousins pouring over to the UK, the wine has been allowed to sit on its lees before undergoing the secondary fermentation.

This adds a complex, slightly creamy character to this upright, linear, elegant prosecco which has apple and pear aromas. It isn't one to rush.

TASTE OF THE MED

INGREDIENTS

(Serves 2)
2 x 150g salmon fillets, skin on, scaled, pin-boned, from sustainable sources
300g ripe mixed-colour cherry tomatoes
4 sprigs of fresh basil
8 black olives (stone in)
30g higher-welfare chorizo
1tbsp red wine vinegar
1tbsp extra virgin olive oil
Sea salt and black pepper

METHOD

1. Put the salmon flesh side down in a large cold non-stick frying pan and place on a medium-high heat. As the pan comes up to temperature and the salmon begins to sizzle (about three minutes), flip it over and cook on the skin side for five minutes, or until very crisp and just cooked (depending on its thickness).

2. Meanwhile, halve the cherry tomatoes, tear up most of the basil leaves, then toss it all with one tablespoon of red wine vinegar and a pinch of sea salt and black pepper.

3. Squash the olives and discard the stones, then finely chop the flesh. Mix with one teaspoon of extra virgin olive oil and a splash of water.

4. Finely slice the chorizo, add to the pan for the last two minutes, then toss in the dressed tomatoes for 30 seconds. Divide between your plates, with the salmon on top. Spoon over the dressed olives and pick over the remaining basil.

A PLUM DESSERT

INGREDIENTS

(Serves 6)
600g ripe mixed-colour plums
1tsp ground cinnamon
120ml maple syrup
320g sheet of all-butter puff pastry (cold)
6 large scoops of vanilla ice cream

METHOD

1. Preheat the oven to 220 degrees C/425 degrees F/gas 7.

2. Place a 26cm non-stick ovenproof frying pan on a medium heat. Halve and destone the plums, add to the pan with 30ml of water and cook for one minute. From a height, sprinkle over half the cinnamon, then evenly pour over the maple syrup.

3. Place the pastry over the plums, using a wooden spoon to push it into the edges of the pan, and trimming off any excess to patch up little gaps, if needed.

4. Bake at the bottom of the oven for 16 minutes or until golden and puffed up. Making sure you use oven gloves to protect your hands, confidently and carefully turn the tart out on to a plate bigger than the pan.
5. Dish up with nice round scoops of ice cream, sprinkle over the remaining cinnamon from a height and drizzle lightly with extra virgin olive oil before serving.

PAST TIMES

HE'S been the voice of Count Duckula and Danger Mouse, ended up behind bars with Ronnie Barker, had a plonker of a brother in Only Fools And Horses and was "perfick" as Pa Larkin in The Darling Buds Of May.

His acting roles have made Sir David Jason one of Britain's favourite comic actors and he swears he has no intention of stepping away from the small screen, recently saying "acting has been my life".

The TV favourite turned 77 earlier this year and said: "People ask me if I am thinking of retiring. It doesn't occur to me. Different day, different challenge, different way. Lovely jubbly."

He added: "To make people laugh, to entertain, create a wide range of emotions. It has always been a tremendous thrill for me and it still is."

The Londoner, born David White, worked as a self-employed electrician before discovering he had a talent for comedy. He initially worked in theatre before moving to television.

He had to change his name because there was already an actor called David White and he chose the name Jason because Jason And The Argonauts was his favourite book at school.

He had a successful stage career beginning with a season in repertory which led to him playing No-Good Boyo in Under Milk Wood, Bob Acres in The Rivals at Sadler's Wells and taking over from Michael Crawford in No Sex Please ... We're British at the Strand Theatre.

David first appeared on TV on Boxing Day 1965 in BBC pantomime Mother Goose playing King Goose.

His big break, however, came in 1967 with children's comedy show Do Not Adjust Your Set, which saw him starring alongside members of the Monty Python team Terry Jones, Eric Idle and Michael Palin.

He went on to appear in A Sharp Intake Of Breath in the late 1970s.

David's first appearance with future comedy partner Ronnie Barker came in 1970's Hark At Barker where he played a 100-year-old gardener.

He went on to work with Ronnie in BBC sitcom Open All Hours and also became a fellow inmate in Porridge, playing an old man called Blanco.

David recently said: "Working with Ronnie was always a joy and they were, without doubt, some of the best years of my career."

David with his Darling Buds of May co-stars

Just as his role of lovable rural rogue Pa Larkin in ITV drama The Darling Buds Of May introduced words such as "perfick" in the 1990s, David's "Del Boy" Trotter educated TV audiences to the shady ways of the Peckham entrepreneur in hit comedy series Only Fools And Horses and expressions like "lovely jubbly" and "plonker."

In fact, one of the quips from the show was voted one of the greatest comedy put-downs in British TV history earlier this year when Del declared: "Dear old Granddad, bless him. He was about as useful as a pair of sunglasses on a bloke with one ear."

David has also enjoyed success and awards for roles like college porter Skullion in Channel 4's drama Porterhouse Blue, staunch northerner in ITV's A Bit Of A Do, Micawber, a Liverpool docker in The Bullion Boys and, of course, DI Frost in ITV's police drama A Touch Of Frost, which saw him appearing with his brother Arthur White, who played PC Ernie Trigg. David lost nearly two stone to play Frost by cutting out beer, fats and sugar.

Holding out for a hero: David as Del Boy with Nicholas Lyndhurst as Rodney in Only Fools and Horses

Knighted in 2005, David has always treasured his privacy and shunned personal publicity despite his television success. He once said: "When audiences finally get tired of me I shall just walk away from it all... just like Ronnie Barker did."

He has now come full circle

Codeword

This puzzle has no clues. Instead, every number printed in the grid represents a letter, with the same number always representing the same letter. For example, if 8 turns out to be a V, you can write in V wherever a square contains 8. Using your knowledge of words, complete the puzzle.

HOME WITH SURPRISING PRICE

This cosy, modern and nicely furnished house is our property of the week PAGES 32&33

HOT HOUSE

GREAT VALUE HOME FOR LESS THAN £300K

A two-bedroom house in Church Langley is an ideal option for anyone looking to buy in Harlow. This cosy, modern and nicely furnished house is our property of the week, which estate agency Kings Group is selling for £280,000.

The property in Coalport Close is a two bedroom terrace house in a quiet location.

A unique selling point is that both bedrooms are doubles.

A spokesman for Kings Group said: "The ground floor benefits from a fitted kitchen with a single door leading to a secluded garden with rear access and a lounge/diner."

"The first floor has two double bedrooms and a family bathroom."

"This property is not likely to be around for long and so I advise that you act fast and book your viewing today."

The house is completed by a secluded garden, making a peaceful spot on one of Harlow's most desirable locations.

Harlow Mill and Harlow Town railway stations are both less than three miles away, while there are good links to Epping underground station.

Another plus point is the space for one car outside.

Church Langley has a superstore and other amenities to offer residents.

MODERN LIVING AND VICTORIAN CHARM

This amazing five-bedroom country house just outside Brentwood would make an impressive home. The sizeable character property, available through Fine & Country estate agencies, is set within considerable acreage of grounds in a sought after secluded Great Warley location.

The luxurious family home enjoys an enviable location within the sought after and leafy suburb of Great Warley.

"The house was definitely in need of a complete refurbishment when we purchased it twenty one years ago," said the owner. "But it was the fabulous location and the building's sheer elegance that drew us to it. It's been the perfect family home and is now so beautiful throughout; the potential we could see all those years ago has definitely been realised."

Situated behind electronic gates the summary of accommodation comprises spacious entrance hall, drawing room, dining room, television room, kitchen/diner, utility room and ground floor cloakroom.

To the first floor there are four bedrooms with dressing room to master and en-suite shower room to the second bedroom with further two bathrooms to this floor.

To the top floor there are two bedrooms, one currently utilised as a home office/study. Externally the property is set within well maintained gardens with a sun terrace for entertaining and woodland gardens.

"We haven't altered the layout a great deal as there's a lovely flow and all of the rooms are really generously proportioned with high ceilings, so there's a wonderful feeling of space throughout. However we did knock down a few walls to create a lovely big family kitchen, which is now the real hub of the home," the owner continued.

"The rest of the house was refurbished to a very high standard and we've used a nice balance of old and new styles that sit beautifully alongside one another. It's most definitely a house for modern living but we've been mindful not to strip it of its Victorian charm.

"The garden is a lovely feature of the property; very private feeling, quite extensive and despite our proximity to town, incredibly peaceful. We have open lawns, a beautiful wooded area that contains some really ancient trees, and a paddock that extends to around 2.5 acres. "It's been an absolute paradise for the children and because we also have a pretty courtyard area and a large patio terrace it's also a great place to entertain."

The current owner says Great Warley is a fantastic residential area.

"It's so lovely that people tend to stay for many years so houses don't come onto the market all that often. It has the feeling of being in the countryside and yet within a matter of minutes you can be in central London – and with Crossrail coming that journey time will be even quicker."

Price on application. Anyone who is interested in the property should call 01277 781113, email brentwood@fineandcountry.com or visit Fine & Country's office at 184 Hutton Road, Shenfield.

With Nigel Lewis

The open-plan apartment, and John and Anthony with Christian, below

GET A ROAR DEAL WITH THIS FLAT

A grainy video of a large lion running towards two long-haired men before leaping up and hugging them ecstatically went viral almost 40 years after it was filmed in Africa. It documents the moving reunion of the men with their pet lion Christian, a year after they'd released him into the wild.

Their extraordinary story started in 1969 when young Australians John Rendall and Anthony Bourke bought the four-month-old lion cub from Harrods' pet department, hoping to give him a better life.

The young lion grew up in Chelsea, spending his time at Sophisticat, a furniture shop where Rendall and Bourke worked, and their flat, where Christian rode on the vacuum cleaner and had a giant tray of cat litter. He played with local children in the walled garden of a churchyard and became a bit of a celebrity.

However, in 1970, he was set free in Kenya. The pair returned to see Christian for a final time in 1972, and there was a tearful reunion, even though he now had a pride of lionesses and a batch of cubs.

The video surfaced on YouTube, had millions of hits and landed them on Oprah a few years ago.

Rendall remained living on the King's Road but is now selling his home.

The open-plan apartment, which has 788sq ft of space, is on the 18th floor, with private balcony and great views across the Thames. It's on the market for £625,000.

Beams can come true at Hell Hole Cottage

Some house buyers go to great lengths to avoid noisy neighbours, burglars, or if they're famous, the paparazzi. They might choose to live in a gated community or fork out for expensive home security systems, while there's even a trend for putting bits of building underground with a basement dig.

For anyone wanting glorious isolation, this forest hideaway is private with a capital P and offers potential buyers an unusual income.

The dramatically named Hell Hole Cottage lies in a glade surrounded by about 89 acres of privately owned commercial and amenity woodland. The woodland could be a nice little earner, as it's been reported that forestry has been the top-performing asset class in the UK over the past three years, beating returns on commercial property, homes, equities and bonds.

In the North York Moors National Park, a track leads through the woodland to the three-bedroom stone house which is set in an open glade towards the eastern edge of the forest, two miles from Kilburn village.

Renovated and modernised by the current owners, the living room has an oak floor, beamed ceiling and fireplace leading to a lounge, again with oak floor, feature fireplace and mezzanine sitting area or bedroom three, which has an outside terrace area attached.

There's a utility room and outside WC along with a detached outbuilding which could be used as a workshop or studio as well as a large garden and paddock.

It's on the market for £650,000, for sale as a whole or in three lots.

See savills.com or call 01904 617800.

An all-star cast has been assembled for a new Nick Hornby movie. The film, due for release next year, sees Rose Byrne play Annie, a long-suffering girlfriend who's beleaguered by her partner Duncan's (Chris O'Dowd) obsession with reclusive musician Tucker Crowe (Ethan Hawke). It's based on Hornby's 2009 novel Juliet, Naked.

Set in New York and the UK, the stars have been spotted while filming in Thanet, Broadstairs and DIY-ers can come across all sorts under floorboards - dried cats, horse skulls and shoes can sometimes turn up, hidden away in old buildings. They've usually been put there as magical charms to protect against demons, ghosts and witches.

The practice died out early in the 20th century, but a child's laced wooden overshoe was recently discovered under the floorboards of this stone cottage.

Owner Jenny Seckerson plans to put the shoe back, saying that "although it's hard to tell whether it's bought me good luck, I want to continue the tradition."

A HOME WITH SOLE

Mavis Bank, at Greatworth in Northamptonshire, is a secluded country getaway overlooking fields that dates back to the early 16th century, and is on the market for £685,000, with original features including exposed beams, wooden latch key doors and floors and open fireplaces.

There's an Aga in the kitchen, dining room with fireplace, which opens out onto a garden room, and an upstairs study, which could be used as a fifth bedroom. A separate annex has a double bedroom, bathroom and open-plan kitchen/sitting room with double glass doors leading out to a patio.

PRESIDENT'S PRICE CUT...

He may be the billionaire president of the United States, but Donald Trump is no more immune to the highs and lows of the property market than the rest of us.

The US leader has just slashed the price of his luxury 4.8-acre estate on the Caribbean island of St. Martin by $11m to $16.9m. The beachfront estate includes two villas - one five-bedroom and another four-bedroom - and several other buildings.

Trump, above, bought Le Château des Palmiers in 2013 for an undisclosed price, although it was on the market at the time for $19.7m.

He's been renting it out of late, with packages starting at $6,000 per night in the low season for the smaller villa, up to an eye-watering $28,000-a-night during the winter holidays.

A holiday at the Trump estate comes with a full staff, private chef, private beach access and room for 20 people.

Le Château des Palmiers

The palm tree-ringed estate comes with a pool at the beach's edge, a tennis court and fitness centre, complete with state-of-the-art security system.

It's not clear why the property is being sold - recent financial disclosures by the president reveal that the estate generates approximately £1m a year in rental revenue.

By Lee Gibson

Mercedes-Benz has made great strides in the design stakes in recent years – and the C-Class Coupe is a perfect example. Taking cues from its similarly handsome S-Class counterpart, this more compact car boasts a typical long, low, road-hugging profile, with a raking roofline dropping towards a powerful looking rear.

A striking, muscular front end features the diamond grille and long bonnet of the S-Class while a high, taut beltline reduces the height of the side windows, the profile of which is highlighted by polished aluminium trim.

Frameless doors and sharp character lines along the flanks complete a clean and modern look which, for my money, makes this the most attractive compact coupe around at the moment.

Fearsomely powerful Mercedes-AMG versions are available for adrenaline junkies with deep pockets but most will be going for the standard 2.0 litre petrol or 2.1 litre diesel models, with manual and automatic and rear or four-wheel drive options available.

The AMG Line car, as the name suggests, offers some of the aggressive styling touches of the flagship flyers, if not the edge-of-your-seat thrills.

That said, in rear-wheel drive trim with the 204ps version of the twin-turbocharged diesel power pack under the bonnet, mated to a super smooth and versatile nine-speed transmission, it's certainly no slouch.

The 0-62mph sprint comes up in a very brisk 6.7 seconds on the way to a top speed of 153mph – which should be more than enough pace for anyone.

Five driving modes can be selected at the push of a button to optimise the car's set-up for sportiness, comfort or economy as well as an 'individual' option which allows the driver to customise the settings to their own personal preferences.

Whichever setting you choose, though, handling is sharp and nimble, with direct, well-weighted steering and impressive levels of grip inspiring confidence and making the C-Class Coupe an enjoyable and engaging car to drive.

It's also refined and composed, ironing out all but the worst vagaries of UK roads, especially with the optional £895 Airmatic dynamic handling package my car featured.

This clever system incorporates a self-levelling suspension that can be raised by 25mm to increase ground clearance and automatically lowers by up to 15mm at high speeds to help reduce drag and improve stability.

Interior highlights of the AMG Line include sporty exclusive touches such as upholstery in Artico man-made leather, a multifunction sports steering wheel with flat bottom and AMG sports pedals.

Open-pore black ash wood trim combined with aluminium in the dashboard and the doors emphasise the premium feel of what is a genuinely classy four-seater cabin, which has plenty of room for those in the front to get comfortable.

It's a slightly different story in the back, though, where, despite the luxurious surroundings, head and legroom has been compromised in favour of that sleek design, meaning adults will feel cramped on all but the shortest trips.

Practicality is not the prime consideration when buying a sports coupe though and at least the boot, at 400 litres, offers good usable space, with the 40/20/40 split rear seats adding load-carrying versatility.

A comprehensive package of high-end, high-tech equipment includes a satnav and infotainment system with seven-inch display screen, dual-zone climate control, electronically adjustable front sports seats, reversing camera, collision prevention assist, park assist and ambient lighting.

As ever with the prestige German brands though, there's a long list of options that can drastically bump up the price. My car, for instance, featured almost £10,000 worth of upgrades and add-ons including a £350 air balance package – which, as far as I can gather, is a glorified air freshener.

Of course, such extras are not essential and with or without them, the C-Class Coupe is a great looking, luxury car that's good to drive.

YOUR STARS WITH

ARIES MARCH 21 – APRIL 20

Those who let you down obviously don't have your best interests at heart. You may try to make excuses for them, but at the end of the day you know you need to move on, don't you Aries? Energy levels are down, but they can go up again if you can find the courage to be the best version of you. Saturn brings emotions to the fore tonight when you'll be tempted to make a phone call that will tell someone exactly how you feel. Ring now for clarity.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 300 65p PER MINUTE

TAURUS APRIL 21 – MAY 21

Your ruling planet Venus, brings your demanding side to the fore. Just be careful that you are not asking for commitments you may not want later down the line. A temporary influence from the stars could see you mistaking a chapter for the whole book as far as a certain interaction is concerned. Ring now to hear why it's worth sticking to muffs both today and tomorrow.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 301 65p PER MINUTE

GEMINI MAY 22 – JUNE 21

Your imagination goes into overdrive and you may find yourself accusing your close ones of things they have not done just to see how far you can push them. Know how far is too far to go my friend, as certain signs in the life of earth helps you to find more common ground with a family member who has come through a major life event. Ring now to hear why I'm so proud of you.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 302 65p PER MINUTE

CANCER JUNE 22 – JULY 22

You begin to make better progress in the workplace than you have all year. This makes up especially for the last time which August saw you having to endure in professional matters. Better times in the home are also waiting, that is if you can agree to meet a certain person halfway. Ring now to hear why it's beneficial to put more time and effort into contracts or any legal matters.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 303 65p PER MINUTE

LEO JULY 23 – AUGUST 23

Try not to make too many arrangements with too many people or you will only end up taking the fun out of what should be a really social time. Certain friends seem to think you belong to them and it's time to put the record straight through actions not words. Fun times link to you going back to something you used to enjoy two years ago. Ring now to make life as amazing as it should be.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 304 65p PER MINUTE

VIRGO AUGUST 24 – SEPTEMBER 22

Opportunities come your way to mix with more like-minded people. However, this may annoy other people who have been spending more time with you. Take the gentle approach so you don't dent anyone's pride. Your element of earth helps you to find more common ground with a family member who has come through a major life event. Ring now to hear why I'm so proud of you.

LIBRA SEPTEMBER 23 – OCTOBER 23

There was a time when you would have allowed yourself to be treated as second best, but that time has passed. Certain people will be in for a wake up call this week when you give them a few home truths. Be nice to Capricorns. They have the contacts you need to make that all important crossover in your work. Ring now to hear why it's worth paying back any money borrowed early.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 306 65p PER MINUTE

SCORPIO OCTOBER 24 – NOVEMBER 21

Are you really looking after yourself as well as you should or could Scorpio? Aspects suggest you are not. Take time out of your day today to make yourself a priority and to think about what is and isn't working for you. Just spending less time with the person who brings you down would be a great start my friend. Ring now to hear why you're going to soon need to check your passports in date.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 307 65p PER MINUTE

SAGITTARIUS NOVEMBER 22 – DECEMBER 20

Work pressures are likely to be taking their toll on you and by bit you start to think of ways you can make your working hours more suited to your needs and desires. For some of you this could include changing careers or companies. Just know that your thinking is clear. Decisions you make now will be the right ones. Ring now to hear who you need to listen to more.

CAPRICORN DECEMBER 21 – JANUARY 20

What you really want and what you think you want, seem to be two different things according to your stars. Don't be afraid to ask for (or insist) on more time to come to your decisions. Certain signs seem to think that by rushing you they can save your hand. This is both unfair and unacceptable. Weigh what you know you look good in tonight. Ring now to hear how Jupiter helps you win in financial deals.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 309 65p PER MINUTE

AQUARIUS JANUARY 21 – FEBRUARY 19

You start to feel more like you and less like a pushover. This may have meant you had to distance yourself from, or even fall out with a close one, but it's sure to have had a positive effect on you. Contracts you need to fill can help take you closer to your dreams and can also ensure that you don't miss out on something you've long wanted to achieve. Ring now for life in full colour.

PISCES FEBRUARY 20 – MARCH 20

You are given a fresh sense of determination for projects which this time last week you were ready to give up on. This seems to have a lot to do with the fact that you now have support where before it was missing. Fun times link to someone you thought you would not see again but who is soon going to be a regular part of your life again. Ring now to put everything into perspective.

Club aim for great escape

HARLOW Cricket Club's first team go into the final game of the season knowing a win against joint bottom side South Woodford, plus favourable results could keep them up.

They currently sit on 157 points in the Shepherd Neame Essex League Division One, the same as South Woodford, with third bottom side Gidea Park & Romford on 174 points – who have to play promotion chasing Billericay.

With 25 points up for grabs for a team batting first and winning, or 20 if batting second, Harlow could overtake both sides provided Gidea Park lose and do not pick up enough bonus points.

Having won the toss on Saturday, top of the league Hadleigh put Harlow in to bat.

They got off to a steady start with Hafiz Yawar Afzal scoring 48 before being bowled. Fellow opener Ahmed Khawaja went for 21 and thereafter the only batsman to show resistance was Ubaid Ur Rehman Kiani with 61.

Mustanser Meraj hit 22 and Mitch Howarde 16 as Harlow were out for 187 in 45.2 overs.

Replying, the two openers fell cheaply and with the next two batsmen also departing without troubling the scorers, and things looked positive for Harlow.

But Sam Hadley (47) and Luke Smith (53) took the game away as Hadleigh overhauled the target for the loss of seven wickets.

Meraj took 3-41 and Mitch Howarde 2-47.

Harlow host ten mile race

HARLOW Running Club hosted the Harlow Ten Mile Road Race on Sunday morning.

The race was won by Jack Blaiklock from Thames Hare & Hounds in a very speedy 56min 44sec.

He was followed home by Jack Gillick (Wymondham AC) in 59:20 and Liviu Ionita (Barking Road Runners) in 59:48.

The first three ladies all finished one after the other. Saffron Walden Striders runner Rebecca White was 24th in an excellent 1hr 08min 12sec, Fiona Halls came home 25th in 1:08:51 and Melissah Gibson (Ealing Eagles) was 26th in 1:09:03.

Most Harlow members had to marshal the event, but 13 did compete. First home was Danny McCree in 17th in 1:06:26.

He was followed by: Alan Broughton 28th and third Vet 50 in 1:09:14; Carinne Jay 51st and second female Vet 45 in 1:14:32; Martin Westley 58th in 1:14:58 (personal best); Stuart Glynn 62nd in 1:16:24; Michael Houlihan 65th in 1:16:51; Robert Scott 81st in 1:19:11; Mark Moulds 96th in 1:21:17; Brenda Clayton 202nd and second female Vet 65 in 1:42:14, (PB and new club Female Vet 70 record); Terasa Holden 226th in 1:51:12; Louise Peacock 238th in 1:56:27 and Angela Cook 253rd in 2:23:41.

There were a total of 254 finishers.

Boss Chapman confident of more success after cup win

By Andrew Franczak

andrew.franczak@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Town set up a clash with Lowestoft Town in the next round of the FA Cup after finally seeing off Thurrock 2-1 at the Arena on Tuesday night.

The hosts fell behind to a Lewwis Spence goal, before turning the match around thanks to strikes from Reece Dobson and Nigel Neita.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "We did well and thoroughly deserved the win, particularly over the two games but even more so based on Tuesday night.

"We gave away a sloppy goal at the start – but I felt we were always in control and we were more than happy to get through.

"The club has got a bit of money out of it and we can now look to progress against Lowestoft on the 16th.

"We played them just a few weeks ago in the league and won 2-0. I don't think that result will make any difference – it's a one off game in the cup and a completely different type of game."

Harlow had gone ahead on Saturday when Tommie Fagg shot into the bottom corner, but in an action-packed final ten minutes the hosts equalised with a well taken goal from distance.

"We were a little bit disappointed to draw the game and not finish off the result, but that's the FA Cup for you," said Chapman.

"We were 1-0 up and quite comfortable – the Thurrock midfielder had scored with an absolutely fabulous strike and the game came to life after that.

"They hit the post and should have gone 2-1 up, then we went up the other end and hit the post, and also hit the bar with the last strike of the game."

Hawks host Tonbridge Angels this Saturday and travel to high-flying Leiston on Tuesday.

"Tonbridge have put a very good squad together – they may have had an indifferent start, but I would expect them to be there or thereabouts come the end of the year," said Chapman.

"I think both games will be hard. We need to get some points on the board.

"It is early in the season and no one likes to be sitting where we currently are.

"But we're getting players back. [Ibrahim] Sonko played on Tuesday and came through it well; Jared Small came on and played 15 minutes and was okay.

"We're hoping Craig Pope should be back and available for selection for Saturday. We are creating a lot of chances.

"We just need to be a bit more clinical in front of goal and if we can do that then we've got every chance of climbing the table.

Hard

"We only lost one of the last four games that was against Enfield on Bank Holiday Monday and that was a game we should have won.

"The confidence is starting to build we've got people coming back in certain areas we need to be better in, and I'm sure we'll start getting consistency in results again.

Defender Christian Scales, who was injured in the game against Lowestoft on his debut after rolling his ankle early on, has returned to Leyton Orient.

"He will be out for four to six weeks according to them so we'll speak to them again after that and decide on what the next move will be," said Chapman.

"He needs to recover first."
